Emergency Vehicle Fleet Solutions

Meeting the service needs of emergency vehicle fleets

Fleet managers are facing pressure to increase their equipment's up time, reduce expenses and source environmentally friendly products. Today's fleets require a single-source distributor that meets your demand for quality products while offering competitive pricing, technical service and support.

H.G. Makelim Co. is a leading provider of high output alternators, diesel fuel injection systems, and turbochargers throughout the Western United States. We represent many of the world's leading providers of power solutions including C. E. Neihoff & Co. , Leece Neville, Delco and many other quality engine component manufacturers and rebuilders.

With our knowledgeable customer service staff, extensive inventory, customized on-site training programs and technical support, you can be assured your equipment will remain on the road and running efficiently.
